MY CONTRIBUTIONS:

During this sprint, my contributions were:

1. Improving responsiveness of the website:

- I ensured that the site is responsive across different screen sizes. So pages such as the dashboards, listings and bookings were adapted properly for mobile and smaller devices.
- I also improved some UI elements so that the site is more appealing to the users.

2. Testing (frontend & backend):

- Backend:

I was responsible for testing the API endpoints for the admin page and the functionality of the admin page. Files can be found on `server/src/test/adminService.test.js` (admin page testing) and `server/src/test/admin.route.test.js` (api endpoint testing).

I also tested the API endpoints for payments and handling edge cases as well.

-Frontend:

I also contributed to making unit tests for the frontend components. Mostly for the facility staff & students dashboards, along with their respective components.

3. Added profile page that the buyers can view:

- For the frontend component, I also implemented the seller profile page whereby the buyers can go and see the seller's rating, how many reviews they have received and also what other active listings they have.

4. UML DIAGRAM: Use Case Diagram

- I also extended the use case diagram and added all the necessary requirements (analytics, seller profile, ratings etc.) for sprint 4 that we had in our requirements list.

5. Added new elements for the facility staff (more frontend stuff):

- Added a completed transactions component so that the staff can track which transactions are completed and also so that there is separation of concerns for pending and completed transactions.
- I also added a filter by calendar feature so that the staff can see the collection / drop off booking for a particular day, which also works hand in hand with the completed transactions component for that day.

WHAT WENT WELL:

For this sprint we were a bit organised more than the previous sprints. We managed to meet the 80% test coverage requirement for this sprint. We improved the functionality of the site greatly and the backend was interacting properly with the frontend. The distribution of tasks was at least fair.

CHALLENGES:

-The main challenge for me in this sprint was testing, we had to ensure that we met the 80% coverage requirement for both the backend and frontend tests, and making sure that the tests were met was such a process which took hours. There were also a lot of debugging issues regarding setting up payment integration and ensuring tight coupling between transactions, bookings and users.

REFLECTION ON PROJECT:

-Building this website with my group members was a very tough but rewarding process. I had moments of joy and of stress. Because of how demanding each sprint was, I had to maintain consistency and ensure that I made meaningful contributions to the project. I now have a feel of what it looks like to work on a software implementation with a team of people and I have learnt a lot about myself during this process.
